Leader

Welcome to this month's issue of Wargames: Soldiers & Strategy. As we announced in May the magazine will be published monthly. Now, you will receive all the usual content once a month, and that is without compromising on quality. To celebrate this and the fact that we have doubled our circulation, in the next few months we will be giving away some snazzy Napoleonic flags made by Adolfo Ramos which will be included inside the magazine as of next issue.

I also wanted to welcome our new UK team whose work you will soon be able to enjoy. John Kersey is our manager there and will be in charge of coordinating the UK-based contributors, handling publicity and doing everything else that goes with the job.

Guy Bowers will be in charge of all the photographic material. To take advantage of the fact that he'll be at all the different shows, Guy will be popping around and asking for permission to snap some great shots of the action and troop displays to grace the pages of the magazine.

Lastly, I wanted to thank everyone who has contacted me and whose contributions have helped towards the success and continued growth of this magazine -made by wargamers for wargamers. On that note, we hope you enjoy all the exciting articles in this month's issue that will take you from Ancient Rome to the battlefields of the Second World War.

See you next month.
