Saludos! Welcome to the first UK produced WSS magazine. First can I thank all our new and established contributors for the sheer variety of tasty offerings. Our Dossier recognises the 90th anniversary of a landmark day in the history of warfare. On the 20th November 1917 modern armoured warfare came of age at the battle of Cambrai. We feature some very special model photography by the talented modeller Dave Andrews who has converted some models to show notable events during the battle. We also have some amazing artwork from Enrico and Carlos and to round off some hot scenarios from Dillon Browne of Bloody Picnic fame and the Gallic gamer Alex Buchel who also provides a review of Great War miniatures. Dave Wise describes modern Chinese tank warfare – in the jungle. Besides tanks and trenches we have an article on the condottieri by George Moraitis with some special flags from Adolfo Ramos. Rounding off the issue is the first of what we hope will be a series of modelling articles from Paul Darnell of Touching History, a miniatures review from our lensman Guy Bowers and recreational cyber warfare from avid PC gamer, Graham Wallis. Finally a new series Primer explaining a specific area of wargaming – here Old School Wargaming guested by Henry Hyde, editor of Battlegames magazine. In closing I must mention an inspiring e-mail message from reader Terry Bell "I would just like to say what a fantastic publication it is, a breath of fresh air, excellent illustrations well written and I love the idea of a Dossier every issue, I just cannot praise your magazine enough keep up the good work and I await your web site."

Last but not least a big heartfelt "gracias" to David for making it all happen.

John Kersey
