Saludos amigos! Perhaps that should be "felicitaciones" because congratulations are due to Guy Bowers our lensman and contributor for the publication of his WAB supplement "Siege and Conquest" (reviewed in Publications) and our Virtual War contributor Graham Wallis who took on stiff competition to lift the Medieval Championships at Colours 2007 (see News).

Truly the WSS team are on the up!

Our Dossier this month is Stalingrad and our US contributor Andy Turlington takes us through this struggle between titans. For those who have seen that excellent movie "Enemy at the Gates" there is a sniper scenario to sweat over. Paul Darnell, our regular modelling contributor gives us some ideas on creating those beat up buildings so reminiscent of Stalingrad.

Wings of War is justly becoming very popular and in the Boardgames section we look at the latest WW2 version of this game.

Guy explains the saga of Vinland with a "Siege and Conquest" scenario featuring the "Skraelings" and an article on brave Austrians defying the might of Napoleon by rolling boulders on them!

Last but not least a big thanks to David "mi buen amigo" for his great support to the UK team.

John Kersey
