Leader

As is usual in most editors' notes for the month of January, I would first like to wish you all the best for 2008; it's sure to be an exciting year for our hobby. One of our main missions this year is to get our web page up and running (I know I've mentioned it was nearly done awhile back but the whole process has been like the construction of the Great Wall of China. We're doing the best we can.) We will also continue publishing special issues while doing our utmost to get the word out about the hobby.

As you probably all know, this year is the bicentennial of the outbreak of the uprising against the French invaders which took place during the Napoleonic wars and which we in Spain refer to as the War of Independence (or the Peninsular War for our English-speaking readers). To mark this period, many events will be taking place throughout the year which we'll inform you about as they come up. It'll be a while before we'll be able to enjoy this many activities so make sure to take advantage of this opportunity.

We would like to invite all of our readers who don't live in Spain to come to check out these events and to visit all the beautiful places brimming with history that our country has to offer.

This month we offer you a special section on the fall of Khartoum. Who doesn't remember Charlton Heston's performance as the mythical General Charles Gordon? We hope you enjoy it.

As I've said many times before and will continue to say, your support is truly appreciated. Without it and the effort of our team in the UK, this magazine would not be possible. John, best wishes and thanks for all your effort! See you next month.
